

As a United flight attendant and air-commuter the last thing I want sitting beside me is a self-important passenger gabbing on his cell-phone while I am trying to perform my duties as a flight attendant or rest, read or simply unwind after working a 12 hour plus day. We have enough problems with air rage without this possibly volatile situation. There are also security issues. Please do not pass this flaw-ridden legislation.